

Remembering Vanni one year on: As March headed into April, the number of injured and killed continued to increase, as the hospital treating the injured came under continuous attack, resulting in even more civilian deaths